Friday, October 21, 2011, 9:00 am to 4:00 pm

CICA offices, 277 Wellington Street West (at Blue Jays Way), Quebec Rm – 2nd Floor Toronto

Please note that you will need to bring a laptop computer

Course: Learn to develop an integrated monthly and annual financial model in an interactive, step-by-step and hands on introductory course that is designed for all financial professionals. After completing the course, students will be equipped with the skills necessary to build a financial model on their own as well as a template for future projects. The course places particular emphasis on:

- Understanding the accounting necessary to construct a financial model;
- Conducting financial analysis to determine the right choices for assumptions;
- Building a model for a mid-sized private business;
- Constructing supporting debt, asset, working capital and tax schedules;
- Understanding interest rate circularity and how to ensure that the balance sheet balances;
- Testing the financial model for errors and tricks for diagnosing the source of errors;
- Learning modelling best practices and Excel shortcuts that save time;
- Conducting sensitivity analysis on assumptions such as growth, gross margin, exchange rate, and working capital turnover; and
- Demonstrating how the financial model may be used as a decision making tool, including for such uses as discounted cash flow valuations, raising capital or bank reporting.

For: Professionals in Valuation, Corporate Finance, Restructuring, Due Diligence, Capital Providers / Lenders, Investment Bankers, Financial Consultants, Entrepreneurs, Accountants, students and prospective financial professionals
